Aging Insights* Television Show becomes a reality serving boomers, seniors and caregivers

Trenton- The New Jersey Foundation for Aging (NJFA) is pleased to announce the new offering of a broadcast show available to public access stations across New Jersey. The Foundation hosts an annual professional conference as well as policy forums. The Foundation also produces a resource magazine for seniors, caregivers and boomers, Renaissance Magazine, which is read by more than 100,000 persons in New Jersey. Aging Insights will make similar information available to public access viewers and will widen the audience. The show will follow in the tradition of Aging Today, a program that has aired in Middlesex County for five years with more than 40,000 viewers. Grace Egan, Executive Director of the Foundation noted, "we are pleased to step into this opportunity and follow the lead of Aging Today. The new show will be titled Aging Insights and will offer resources for boomers, caregivers and seniors while widening the viewership to other counties". The first show will be aired in October.

To learn more about the work of the Foundation visit www.njfoundationforaging.org or call 609-421-0206. The New Jersey Foundation for Aging was established in 1998 to create ongoing financial support for aging services in New Jersey. Its mission is to expand innovative approaches in the delivery of services that enable older adults to live in the community with independence and dignity.
